The Internal Revenue Bill will be Signed.

More Depredations by Road Agents.

A Further Reduction in Wages

[Washington special to the Cincinnati Commercial. The president will not veto the internal revenue bill, all reports to the contrary not-withstanding. The report that secretary Sherman favored its veto is a mistake. He thinks it very unwise to reduce the revenues $11,000,000 just at this time, but he opposes a sa veto, saying that opposes a cover veto, saying that congress has the power to regulate revenues and vote appropriations, and with them is the responsibility if there is a deficit. The president and Secretary Sherman think that but for the arrears of pensions and river and harbor hills teration. sions and river and harbor bills, taxation could have been easily reduced on tobacco, but with these additional burdens the reduction of taxation on any article is unwise. But congress having taken the responsibility, there is no disposition at the white house to veto this important measure. To-bacco men have been fearful of a veto, and it has been the general impression that there would be one, owing to the condition of the treasury.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 1 .- The French and English ambasadors have informed the porte that they could not assure it that their respective governments would support the first Turkish proposal relative to the Greek boundary, as it is not based upon the treaty of Berlin. The counsel of ministers elaborated and dispatched to Moukhtar Pasha, the Turkish boundary commissioner, a project which it thinks, though not eding all the Greeks desire, will afford a basis for negotiations.

About Cardinals.

Rome, March 1.—Cardinal Filippo Guidi, the bishop of Palestrina, is dead, aged 64 years. The pope yesterday held a consistory and raised Cardinal Nina, pontifical secretary of state, to cardidal priest, and nominated Cardinal Edo-arodo Barromo for camerlingo of the sacred college, in place of Cardinal Ferrieri, whose term has expired. His holiness also recog-nized thirty-four archbishops and bishops, No cardinals were created.

Queen Victoria's Tour.

Paris, March 1 .- It is said here thet Queen Victoria will leave London at the end of March for the continent, resting one night at the British embassy here and then proceed to the Italian lakes, where she will be met by the duke and duchess of Connaught on their wedding tour. Her Majesty thence goes to Germany.

TORONTO, March 1 .- The Anglican synod has been in session two days voting for a bishop of the diocese of Toronto. Seven bal-lots have been taken. The last ballot stood: Archdeacon Whitaker 74 clerical and 40 lay voters; Dr. Sullivan, Chicago, 25 clerical and LONDON, March 1.-The cotton masters of Lancashire recommend that the Blackburn "standard list" be generally adopted for the regulation of weaver's wages. The change implies a reduction. Two thousand weavers at Congleton already refuse to submit. Forger Caught.

A report from the prison committee was made to the house yesterday. It says that the sanitary condition of the two prisons is good, discipline well maintained and food plenty and of good quality. Warden Howard, of the southern penitentiary, is enveloped in a glorious halo of whitewash, and he is exonerated from all the charges. The committee recommended that an appropriation be made to build additional cell rooms at the southern prison, or else 200 of the convicts be transferred to the prison north, where additional cell room could be built to greater advantage. The necessity of north, where additional cell room could be built to greater advantage. The necessity of cells designed for insone convicts was urged. Some astonishment was expressed by Mr. Clarke, a member of the committee that he had not been consulted in the preparation of the report, and he stated his intention of filing a minority report. There was an allusion in the report to the evidence taken, which was said to be filed herewith, but Mr. Taylor of Daviess county, a member of the committee, confessed that so far as he knew it had never been prepared, so that a motion to print was rather malapropos.

A reconsideration has been had in the house committee on elections, in the matter of the Drake-Bearss contest, and a further meeting will be held Monday night to hear additional evidence.

The system of brow-beating of members of the floor of the house, yesterday afternoon, in order to kill the Anderson investigation, was continued after adjournment. Representative Schwitzer, of Owen, was assailed at his supper table, in the Grand hotel, by the journal clerk of the house, Mr. Mays, who impeached his democracy on account of his refusal to vote the Henderson investigation off. It is sufficient to say that the impertinent meddler went away rather suddenly, with a small insect in his ear.

Just after a vote had been taken in the senate this morning granting leave of absence to Senator Wood, of Crown Point, Mr. Benz, who had opposed it, rose and said: "Mr. President, I want now to ask leave of absence for the entire senate until a week from next Monday at 2 o'clock. I think our constituents will be much better off if swe go home and stay till that time." Evidently the majority of the senate sympathized with Benz, for the motion was adopted.

The board of trustees of the Ohio state reform school, the Ohio state board of charities, Governor Bishop, if his duties will permit, and a few friends, will visit Indianapolis next week, arriving Monday evening. By the very decisive vote of 64 to 30, the house this morning passed the Willard-Dalton fee and salary bill; this vote may have sufficient influence on the senate to secure the passage of the bill there, with some amendments, but it is doubtful.

Lieutenant Governor Gray and Senator Woollen, representing the democrats, Senators Harris and Langdon, the republicans, and Senator Davis, the nationals, have been at work since yesterday noon, endeavoring to arrange alegislative apportionment scheme that would be acceptable to all parties. Their efforts have been successful, and this morning the agreement was signed. The measure ing the agreement was signed. The measure as proposed is, in the main, similar to that agreed upon by the national senators, and as they hold the balance of power, both the old parties made concessions to them. The figures of the scheme are not known, but it may be asserted that based on the election of 1878, the nationals held a balance of power on joint ballot, and also in the house of representatives. There will be no change in the present congressional apportionment. The most energetic efforts are being put forth on all sides to stifle investigation. The music was furnished by the city band, and was excellent, the decorations were profuse and beautiful, the toilettes were costly and elegant, and everything was conducted in fine style. Supper was spread in the ordinary, and lasted from eleven till two, the company not being seated in a body. Among the guests were a delegation from the Richmond light guard, and a number of regular army officers with their ladies. Unsatisfactory Transval Affairs.

London, March 1.—A Capetown dispatch says affairs in the Transval cause considerable anxiety. It is reported that the republicans intend to reconvene the old Volksroad dissolved by Sir Theophilus Shepstone and elect a president of the republic. It is reported also that a majority of the Transvall Boers will decline to take part against the Zulus. A dispatch from Cetywayo to General Kruger, former president of Transval, asking the Boers to remain neutral, has been intercepted. The commander of the Dutch station had seized and sent back to the Zulus the cattle captured and sold to settlers on the ground that the Zulus might be expected to invade Transvaal to recapture their cattle. The British magistrate had issued a warrant for the arrest of the commander, but an attempt to execute it would probably be forcibly resisted. The leaders of Dutch party protest against these reports and against suspicions of an alliance, present or prospective, between the Boers and Zulus. Many Boers are serving efficiently with Col. Woods's column, and Transvaal itself is threatened both by Secocoeni and by the Kaffirs within its borders.

The Brazilian mail subsidy was killed in the house to-day, by an overwhelming vote. Almost Buried Alive.

The Atchison (Kansas) Patriot tells a remarkable story concerning the resurrection of a woman who was about to be buried. Tenny Dysart is the wife of John Dysart, a colored man living in West Atchinson. About Christmas time Mrs. Dysart was obliged to take to her bed on account of dropsy, and at about midnight on Tuesday of last week she seemed to die. On Wednesday friends looked at the body, condoled with the husband and children and made preparations for the funeral. On Wednesday night watchers sat by the supposed corpse, and Thursday was fixed as the day of burial. On Thursday morning the body was robed for the grave, and placed in the coffin. The funeral was to take place at 3 o'clock, at which hour the house was filled with mourning friends. The hearse was waiting at the door, and the body was soon ready to be borne to its last resting place. As the lid of the coffin was thrown back to allow a farewell look at the body, one woman laid her hand on the forehead of the supposed dead woman, and with a cry of astonishment declared that the body was warm. Physicians were sent for. They applied the usual tests, and said that life still remained. The body was taken from the coffin, remedies and restoratives were administered, and the patient was soon conscious in in a fair way to recover.

THE DAILY NEWS.

SATURDAY, MARCH 1, 1879.

The Indianapolis News has the largest circulation of any daily paper in Indiana.

THE attempt to refer the investigation of ex-Auditor Henderson's fees to the attorney gen al, was an absolute confession that he had charged and kept constructive fees.

From the persistent lobbying done by ex-auditors of state in the house yesterday, it would se I that some others besides Mr. Henderson are afraid of any investigation, which is all the more reason for it.

Foreign insurance companies only are supervised in this state. Wild cats of the worst character are allowed to grow and swindle the people under the guise of home companies. And no home company, good or bad, is made to publish the statement of its condition, which the beneficiaries of the insurance steal assert is so necessary in the case of foreign insurance companies.

THE effort in the house of representa tives to stifle the insurance investigation by discharging the committee and authorizing the attorney general to make it, met with well merited failure yesterday. The constitution of that committee was such as to inspire the belief that it would face its duty without fear or favor. If there have been any wrongful charges, or if there has been misappropriation of funds any way, this committee the auditor's accounts overhauling can make it known. There is a statute that any officer entrusted with any money or securities belonging to the state, who shall convert it to his own use by investment, or by loaning it, with or withou interest, shall be fined and imprisoned as made and provided. A thorough examination of the auditor's record will show the disposition of the state's money, and in this particular the committee whose special duty is to inquire into Auditor Henderson's insurance management, can aid other committees, the result of whose work may bear upon the disposition of the state's moneys. This committee is therefore the more valuable, and since the legislature has shown a determination not to interfere with it, it is to be hoped it will rigidly and impartially do its duty.

IT is doubtful whether the dignity of legislative body was ever more grossly insulted by the shameless importunity of lobbyists, than in the lower branch of our state legislature yesterday afternoon while the effort was being made to get the house to reverse its action ordering ex-Auditor Henderson's investigation. The party manipulators on either side had evidently come to a compromise agreement touching certain matters of which this was one-a clear case of "I tickle you and you tickle me." It was adroitly contrived that the motion to reconsider the Henderson investigation hould come from the republican side and representative Herod made the motion The previous question then followed and it was hurried to a vote after the calling of the yeas and nays. It was now that the friends of the ex-auditor, led by Mr. Henderson himself, grew the thickest on the floor of the house, rapidly moving from seat to seat, begging and urging and shamelessly threatening The disgraceful scene culminated when the name on the roll was reached of Mr. Schwitzer of Owen county. That gentleman voted no, whereupon Mr. Henderson. standing at some distance, scowling- and gesticulating, shrieked out: "Schwitzer, you voted wrong; you voted no; vote to reconsider-vote to reconsider, I tell you?" This audacious attempt to bullyrag and browbeat a member while in the very act of voting, which should have been met by arrest for contempt, was at least applied to the wrong member in this instance. The reply and bearing of Mr. Schwitzer were a rebuke that even the brazen ex-auditor will not soon forget, and conclusive proof that Owen's represen tative is not anybody's pocket-piece, but a man who has the courage of his convictions. Mr. Henderson's desperate zeal to arrest the process of investigation ought to lend impetus to the inquiry, and is convincing proof that there is cause for it. The house will fall far short of its duty, if it does not rebuke the shameful insult put upon it. THE charges against Dr. Jameson a president of the board of trustees of the tate charitable institutions, were formally fired off last night. They cover about everything it is possible for an officer in his position to do, and if they may be judged in advance, bear the appearance of a net thrown on general principles in the hope that if they miss in one particular they may catch in another. The name of the author or voucher carries no weight with it. These facts and the time at which | brethren. Perhaps the negro is looming and

than to wait until a fortnight before adjournment, and until after there has been a failure to declare the election of repub-lican trustees by the last legislature void, causing a halt in the endeavor to legislate them all out of office. In short, this investigation looks too much like a cooked-up affair to shake the opposition to the law turning the institutions over to democratic management. The far-fetched character of some of the charges, the third, for example, also tends to weaken confidence in them. That charge informs the committee that it is unlawful for any one "to hold a position in any of the benevolent institutions of the state of Indiana who is related by blood or marriage to any director, mana ger, trustee or commissioner of the institution to which such person may be appointed" and then declares that the relatives of superintendents of the institutions have been appointed in violation of this. The committee certainly knows, or it ought to, that the superintendents are neither managers, directors, trustees nor commissioners. Their offices are purely perfunctory, and on the passage of thi law which was intended to prevent nepotism on the part of any who had control, the attorney general was consulted as to its intention, and decided very properly that it did not contemplate superintendents. If the other charges have no more spissitude than this one, there will be some wonder as to why an investigation was ordered and it may cast upon the managers thereof the imputation that the whole purpose is to force the republican trustees out of the way, so that democrats may have office.

To avoid any such conclusion the com mittee should begin its sessions, not with postponements as it did last night, but with work. It should take up those charges seriatim and prove or disprove them. The gentlemen concerned should wink at no compromise or listen to no cry of quits. If the administration of our state institutions has been dishonest the people must know it and since it has been called in question they must also know that it has been honest. This investigation

OUT OF POLITICS.

Why the Nogro is Disappearing as a Polit ical Factor in Some Parts of the South.

I remarked that the negro seemed to have been annulled as a force in Georgia politics.

"Yes; there are but two negroes in the Georgia legislature at present. The blacks are rather better off than they were ten years are rather better off than they were ten years ago. They are allowed more liberties in many ways, are left to themselves for a great portion of the time; that is, they are not in-terferred with. There is no particular feel-ing on the part of the whites against them, as they are practically suppressed as a fore politics."
"Then the majority of them do not vote when important elections occur?"

"There is a poll tax of $1 in Georgia "There is a poll tax of $1 in Georgia. There was one under the constitution of 1866 and there is one in the new constitution. The negroes who don't pay are of course ruled out and don't succeed in voting. This is the manner of procedure. In Georgia the per ons known as the receivers of tax returns first go around. In each district notices are sent to the people to appear at the customary. sent to the people to appear at the customary meeting-places at the "cross-roads," etc., and to state the property value on which the esti-mates for taxation are to be made. As the mates for taxation are to be made. As the commonwealth is very large and thinly settled, and the distances are enormous, this goes on for several months, generally ending in the spring. The estimates from this rather rude manner of getting a basis are made up, and notices are published in the newspapers by the receiver of tax returns that the estimates thus secured are to be sent to the comptroller general of the state. This is dore, and in due course of time the tax collector gives notice that he and his deputies will go around over the same ground, and to all the cross-roads visited by the receiver of returns and will collect the receiver of returns, and will collect money due. Sometimes these notices al reach the parties for whom they are intend ed, and sometimes they do not. When the long task of collecting the money is finished the money is sent to the treasury and a list of unpaid taxes is returned certified to the comptroller, who issues tax executions, and turns them over to the sheriff. Now it happens that the elections usually occur about the time of the closing of the tax collector's books. There is little or no chance to pay taxes on election day. When a tax collector is favorable to those whose friends want s he can easily do them a very good turn The system is extremely loose and you can readily see that the careless man, who would in many cases hardly pay his poll tax if he were urged to do so, is not very earnestly pressed to remember his duty to the state. When election day comes it is found that large numbers of both whites and blacks are delinquent in the matter of paying taxes

As the negroes have in most cases little or no property, the only tax which they would be called on to pay is the poll tax, and the default on this renders it impossible for them hard money man." It wouldn't be the worst "You say there are large numbers of whites whose poll taxes as well as other taxes are also unpaid."

"Yes, but common sentiment in the state res, but common sentiment in the state makes it dishonorable to challenge the white voter because of unpaid taxes. It is looked upon as contemptible, and it would go hard with the man or set of men who should insist upon doing it. The negroes are, of course mercilessly challenged. When votes are very much needed negroes and whites are both bought up in large numbers."

"It is due to several causes, but the first and one of the open and the first and most important one is the inherent weakness of the negro himself. There is a fatal lack of spine in him as regards politics. The negroes can be got together in clubs where the democrats can not get at them, and there can be trained into some kind of organized political effort. Whenever they prepare to vote at all, that is, to make their vote felt, they work in clubs. One of the great difficulties in manage. clubs. One of the great difficulties in managing them is that they have to be kept highly xcited, or they relapse into complete indif difficult task, who endeave to make the negroes exercise this difficult use, or make the negroes exercise their rights and assume their places as freemen and independent citizens, finds all the white democrats conspiring against him. They will involve him in riots, even when he was doing the best to prevent them. They will undermine his reputation. The white man who has a great deal at stake in his ctate can not undertake a matter in which white man who has a great deal at stake in his state can not undertake a matter in which there is so much risk. The rash men who undertake it make themselves and the movement odious, and so there seems little hope of improvement in the present situation. When the whites disagree the negro is pulled this way and that way, and he is learning to consider himself a mercantile article and to

The tregs are small, rarely exceeding 15 feet is height when full grown, but in fruitful seatheight when full grown, but in fruitful seasons yield enormous quantities of cones. These are dried and made into bread, or roasted whole. The Indians go to the harvest in large parties, mounted on ponies, and make a pleasure excursion of the work. "Arrived at some central point where water and grass are found," says a correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin, "the squaws with baskets, the men with poles, ascend the ridges to the laden trees, followed by the children; beating begins with loud noise and chatter; the burrs fly right and left, lodging against stones and sage brushes; the squaws and children gather them with fine natural gladness; smoke columns speedily mark the joyful scene of their labors as the roasting fires are kindled, and at night, assembled in circles, garrulous as jays, the first grand nut least begins." Sufficient quantities are obtained in a few weeks to last all winter."

I was brought up and educated among the old school of preachers, and have done what I could to broaden religious views and to encourage liberal, charitable thought. Then I had some prominence in the anti-slavery movement and the temperance movements of my day; and we have also seen the apparent canflict between science and religion. It is conflict between science and religion. It is unfair to apply the name of scientist, the one who knows, exclusivaly one who knows, exclusively to those who study matter. I believe that inquiry into the physical laws of the universe is as essential to the perfect understanding of God's truth as the study of the spiritual laws. The truth as the study of the spiritual laws. The theologian is as much a scientist in his field as the physicist. A DEPENSE OF THE CHINESE.

Effects of the Freeent Bill.

[New York Tribuna.]

Moy Jin Kee is an intelligent Chinaman employed by H. C. Parkes, a dealer in Chinese and Japanese goods, in Front street, in this city. He has been in this country for several years, the greater part of whick time he has spent on the Pacific coast. He speaks the English language very well, with only a slight foreign accent. He is well educated, and is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. Mr. Parkes states that Moy Jin Kee is frequently consulted by importers in this city, and other persons interested in Chinese affairs, and as he is in close communication with friends in China, he is well informed of the feelings of his fellow-countrymen. Mr. Parkes says that he is obliged to pay Moy Jin Kee a good salary to retain his services, as he is sought after by other houses in the trade. A number of Methodist gentlemen in the city have formed a plan to send Moy Jin Kee to Drew Theological seminary, with a view of making him a missionary.

When asked yesterday for his views on the Chinese bill, Moy Jin Kee said: "I think it a great shame that we should be singled out as a nation to be degraded and insulted in this manner. We did not want to come here. The United States sough to enter into treaty relations with China, and we opened our ports to this and other nations against our wishes, but we have lived up to our agreements, and so have the other nations, excepting the, United States. We expected more from this country than any other because it was a "nation of freemen," but we have got less. The treatment we have received here has been shameful, and if the good people of the United States bould only realize how we have been hunted and hounded about, our property taken from us by force, our poor homes burned over our heads, and we stoned the United States could only realize how we have been hunted and hounded about, our property taken from us by force, our poor homes burned over our heads, and we stoned and driven from place to place subject to the gibes and insults of every loafer of an 'frish fellow citizen,' I am sure we would not have been so misrepresented by Mr. Blaine and others, and would find greater protection than we now receive. The Chinamen are patient, and they bear a great deal, but they can not bear everything.

"These things happen on the Pacific coast, though over here we are not treated as other foreigners. Several of my friends wanted to go to night school in this city recently, but they were ridiculed and insulted by other attendants, and had to give up the project. I know of as many as sixty Chinamen in this city who would like to attend night school could they be allowed."

"Is it true that nearly all the Chinamen could they be allowed."

"Is it true that nearly all the Chinamen who come to this country do so under contract?"

"Yes, but it is a voluntary contract. They "Yes, but it is a voluntary contract. They are paid a great deal more than they get at home, and they are glad to come. They have no money to pay their passage or to live on when they get here, so they bind themselves to work for $16$ a month for a certain time, until they repay the passage money advanced by the six companies. There is no slavery about it. The Chinese government will not allow any Chinaman to be brought here except he comes voluntarily. If any come in any other way it is through English ports and not Chinese. I came here to be educated, and not under contract, and I have relatives and friends who came here in a similar manner." similar manner.

"Is it true, as charged, that most of those who come to this country are of the very lowest classes?"

"There are three classes in China, all of whom have different ancestors. They are the Chinese, the Tartars and the Coolies. Most of those who come here are coolies and Tartars. Out of the 1,800 Chinamen in this the Chinese, the Tartars and the Coolies. Most of those who come here are coolies and Tartars. Out of the 1,800 Chinamen in this city not more than twenty are Chinamen, properly called. The better class do not come here because they do not get that 'kind treatment' which the treaty guarantees them; and more particularly because they can not bring their wives with them and settle here, as the Irish and others are allowed to do. They would gladly settle here and live as Americans do, if they were granted rights which are allowed the lowest Irishman or other foreigner. I would like to cut off my cue, bring my wife here, now living in Canton, if I could acquire property and be protected in its use, and transmit it to my family. Chin Lon, a famous Chinese merchant in San Francisco, who died about twelve years ago, owned houses and lots and mining property, and was worth a great deal of money. He kad a wife and nine children with him; but when he died his property was all taken by the city, and his family was left destitute. That was a great lesson to Chinamen; and that is why they are obliged to take their savings, if they have any, back to China. If they could acquire homesteads, they would settle on the wild lands and beto China. If they could acquire he they would settle on the wild land come farmers—an occupation they are fitted for and like."

"What about the assertion that the Chinese women in this country are nearly all brought women in this country are nearly all brought here for improper purposes?"

"That is in a great measure true, but it is the fault of the treatment the Chinese have received in this country. The better classes of women do not come here because they are subject to insults and all the other hardships we have to undergo here. I could not bring my wife here. Two friends of mine, whose wives live in this city, had to bring them here in men's clothes to save them from the wives live in this city, had to bring them here in men's clothes to save them from the insults of the hoodlums and others. As a Chinaman is not allowed to become a citizen he is obliged to go back to China, so they do not bring their wives with them.

"We are charged with all offences because we have no vote, and because we have to work for our living. We are clean, don't get drunk, mind our own affairs, and do our duty. Can you say so much for the Irish, German, or any other foreigners? We are proscribed in California, and when the contract under which the Chinaman works runs out, he is unable to get work. They live out, he is unable to get work. They live cheaply because they are forced to do so. They work cheaply rather than strike or starre. If they succeed in any occupation they are immediately set upon by the hood-lums and driven out of it. They are taxed lums and driven out of it. They are taxed to death, but pay without grumbling. One learns a business like that of the laundrymen, and he teaches it free to the others, and they follow it for want of anything else, and and that is why there are so many Chinese laundries. The slaves in the south were never treated like the Chinese are now being treated in California. It is terrible."

"What will be the effect of the Chinese bill on your fellow countrymen at home?"

on your fellow countrymen at home?"
"I am afraid it will be very bad for the American merchants there, five of whom have more property than all the Chinese have in the United States."

"Is there no hope of Christianizing the Chinese?" "Yes, great hope. Seventeen thousand were baptized in the Methodist church in Canton within three months. If the Chine:e in this country were not torced to go back to China they would be more willing to embrace Christianity. I am a member of the Methodist church, my brother is a Baptist, and I have three friends in the city who are Congregationalists."

the Charges Against Dr. Jameson a Investigation.

The joint legislative committee on benevolent institutions met last night at the Grand hotel, to begin the investigation of the charges made against Dr. Orpheus Everts, superintendent of the insane hospital, and Dr. P. H. Jamesen, president of the benevolent boards. Dr. Jameson said all he asked was an immediate investigation. The charges are false in whole and in detail. So far as the provisional board is concerned, he said the provisional board is concerned, he said, he had received no interest. Has vouchers to the provisional board is concerned, he said, he had received no interest. Has vouchers to show for all expenditures. Dr. Everts said the charges against him, so far as they are definite, are false, and so far as they are indefinite are foolish. He said he was ready for investigation at any day and any hour. Dr. Jameson filed an answer in writing with the committee denying the charges which he characterized as false, malicious and slanderous. Dr. Everts made a similar answer. The charges are made by Benjamin V. Hubbard and embody 14 different specifications in brief, as follows: That Patrick H. Jameson had violated the statutes of the state approved March 10, 1875, by expending large sums of money for the three asylums; that he had received additional pay for services as an officer of the provisional board of commissioners for the Indiana hospital for the insane in violation of law; that he violated his duties as a state officer by violating the statute which provides that "no one shall hold a position in any of the benevolent institutions of the state of Indiana who is related by blood or marriage to any director, manager, trustee or commissioner of the institution to which such person may be appointed;" that he had drawn a sum of money in excess of the sum allowed by law for each year; that he had paid out money uselessly and extravagantly in and about the building of the new hospital for the insane; that he had, as president of the said board, accepted gifts of great value at divers times from persons furnishing large quantities of goods and supplies great value at divers times from persons furn-ishing large quantities of goods and supplies to the benevolent institutions, using his official power to secure contracts and the sale of merchandise for divers persons; that he has allowed goods to be purchased of certain per-sons at prices above the ruling market retail prices; that he had made certificates for the admission of Gordon Griffith to the hospital for the insane as an insane person when the said Griffith was at the time the when the said Griffith was at the time the certificate was made a perfectly sane person, certificate was made a perfectly sane person, having been sent from the city prison of Indianapolis for a short period of time to save him from being sent to the state's prison for an assault and battery; that on various dates he had received from the public treasury large sums of money on account of the building fund of the insane hospital, which he had alcosed in deposit in backs in the city be had placed on deposit in banks in the city, on which interest had been paid, which interest he had appropriated to his own private use; that he had made false statements of the per capita exercise se of the deaf and dumb and blind institutes counting 50 weeks in a year.

stitutes, counting 50 weeks in a year, when, in truth, the inmates of these asylums are in these institutions but 40 weeks in the year; that he had suffered and permitted several incurable patients to remain in the hospital for the insane, and that large amounts of money were paid to the officers and employes of said hospital for such patients with the said Jameson's knowledge; that he had suffered and permitted the accounts and books of the hencepolent institutions to he books of the benevolent institutions to be kept in a loose and uncertain manner cal-lated to deceive and mislead the public; that he had consented to and approved the conduct of W. H. Churchman, superintendent of the blind asylum, in buying goods from his (W. H. Churchman's) own manufactory and store in Indianapolis, and that a thorough and impartial investigation will bring to light other abuses existing in and about these institutions.

The charges against Dr. Evarts are substantially the same, except as regards interest on public funds.

Dr. Jameson states that ex-Attorney General Buskirk and the present attorney general have both given their opinions on the subject of the employing of relatives and the matter has their legal sanction. The next meeting of the committee will be held on Monday evening, at 7:30. Monday evening, at 7:30.

A Delightful Place.

nce of 'The Indianapolis News.] HUNTSVILLE, ALABAMA, February 25, 1879.
Huntsville, a town of about 7,000 inhabitants, is situated in Madison county, northern Alabama, 10 miles from the Tenn. river, on a beautiful elevation of ground 700 feet above the level of the sea, and is surrounded by a rich valley, beyond which rises a range of cedar mountains, and still further in the distance is seen another semi-range still higher, making very picturesque scenery.

higher, making very picturesque scenery.

The architecture of many of the houses recembles that of our old state house, the and having in front the large columns from twenty to twenty-five feet in height, supporttwenty to twenty-five feet in height, supporting an extension of the roof, the yards are large, with but little grass, relieved by winding walks and floral decorations, interpersed with choice evergreens, such as the holly, juniper, bay tree, etc. In addition to these are the white mulberry, live oak, fig trees, umbrella and sensitive tree, which are deciduous. Some small plants bloom in the open air throughout the winter. Near the center of town rises through the limestone rock one of the largest soft-water springs in the United States. This furnishes power sufficient for running large factories, and, by the aid of machinery, forces water more than 100 feet high through pipes into a reservoir upon the hill, from which the town is watered and afforded a sufficient quantity of water for a afforded a sufficient quantity of water for a navigable canal between Huntsville and the Tennessee river, before the war, which enter-prise since that time has been neglected. The prise since that time has been neglected. The people seem only to have good will toward northern men, and a more hospitable and social people I never met. The supreme advantage which Huntsville possesses above almost all other points in the eastern, northern, middle and southern states is its great reputation for health, acquired from its genial climate, pure water and location. A few northern capitalists to open up a short line of transportation, would most certainly made this a thriving and heautiful city. made this a thriving and beautiful city.

A Resume of the Month's Business - A Satisfactory State of Affairs-Detailed Reports.

The wholesale trade of this city for the month of February, presents no startling features to the un-initiated outsider. The advance of one-eighth on sugar and the sudden decline of a like amount on coffees, may have amazed the grocery trade, but to those not engaged in that especial line, these mar-velous fluctuations in the most staple of staples were received with an apathy that amounted almost to positive coolness. The old channels of trade have been followed during the past month with a success which was flattering, if not marked. The volume of trade was larger than that of January and the prices generally firmer and higher. ary and the prices generally nrmer and nigher.

The country roads and the cold weather have had the effect of placing an embargo upon certain lines of trade, such as groceries and dry goods, and consequently those branches can not report as flourishing a business as they would like. Among the wholesale grocers, trade was lighter than during the first month of the year. Coffees have weakened perceptibly, while sugars have skipped through the range of prices from high to low with an agiity eighth of a cent, to the delight of the sellers and he disgust of the buyers.

The dry goods dealers have been exhibiting energy in the accumulation of their spring stocks, and the stores present a holiday appearance. The business for the month is reported as fair, not as the warming up of the weather and the thawing out of the roads, the trade is expected to revive January, and about as good as that of last February, which will be remembered as a warm and pleasant month in every respect (considered from a dry goods standpoint), superior to the twentyeight days cold, snow, sleet and wind, just finished yesterday.

Produce merchants report double the business for last month than for the month preceding, and in this market there have been some remarkable variations in prices. In the early days of the month eggs were inordinately high, active and scarce, and sales at 30 cents a dozen were eagerly accepted.

fortnight. While the product of the industrious hen has thus declined, the unctuous yield of the dairy has advanced. The saved stock of fancy but-ter has run short, and there is a scarcity with dairy has advanced. The saved stock of fancy butter has run short, and there is a scarcity with higher prices. Table grades can now command 20 per cent better prices than they did a month ago. Game is out of season. Vegetables are meeting with the usual request at unchanged quotations. The druggists have enjoyed the ordinary February trade, which is not the best month in the year for pills, physics and cathartics. Trade was as brisk, however, as last February, and livelier than January. Opium and morphine preparations kare hopped about ilke an uneasy flea on a hot gridiron, with the most amazing diaregard for the proprieties. "This was owing," explained a wholesale druggist, "to the gambling that is indulged in by the eastern brokers. Opium is now as much an article of speculation as corn or stocks, and the element of stablity which is found nowhere if not in drugs is entirely wanting in its composition; it is the exception which proves the rule." Cinchonida has advanced steadily from the first of the month, owing to the scarcity of the supply.

For ign fruits have not been in as great a demand as the dealers might have desired to have seen. The market was dull and quiet. Toward the latter end of the month the prices of lemons and oranges have advanced and the future promises still higher prices with an increasing trade.

Iron and tin goods have had no reason to complain of the past month. Their trades have been uniformly active with goods tending upward. The regular spring trade will commence this month, when advances will be succeeded by advances and trade is expected to flourish.

Hides have been extremely dull with a downward tendency in quotations. Leathers have not been served much better. There is a want of unanimity in this market. Hides are either too high or leathers too low. One or the other must change before a satisfactory business can be done.

Provisions—Facts—Gossip.

PROVISIONS—FACTS—GOSSIP.

Indianapolis prevision men have occasion to remember the month of February, 1879. With the largest supply of meats in store ever known, the hog crop reported exhausted, and yet the receipts of Chicago daily increasing, the market just recovering from a sudden and unexplainable advance in prices which declined as rapidly as they had gone up, the prospects were by no means assuring, and yet there has not been a month in years that has resuited in as much solid good to the trade as this same month, so strangely opened. The first week saw prices within one cent of their lowest limit. To-day an advance of three cents is noted, with a quiet but firm market, and a tendency to advance rather than decline. The provision rings at Chicago and Cincinnati have caused this remarkable bouyancy. Large buyers from both cities have purchased nearly one-fifth our entire stored meat since the beginning of the year, and if they continue as keen to accumulate as the local dealers are to dispose, the remainder of the stock will not last ninety days longer. The amount of money received in the past month was very large, and a few months ago it would have seemed fabulous to some of the depressed holders of porcine product. It does not, however, quite repay them for some of the losses of '74, '75, '76, and therabouts. The money they are receiving now is of a much better quality than that they lost, and a little of it goes a longer way than at any time since the war. All the pork men have made money this winter. The sales of February have been of a speculative nature purely. The larger portion of the meats have not been consumed, but held by their owners for a still further advance in prices.

Ci the two summer packing houses, Ferguson & Cithetwo summer packing houses, Ferguson & PROVISIONS-FACTS-GOSSIP.

portion of the meats have not been consumed, but held by their owners for a still further advance in prices.

Of the two summer packing houses, Ferguson & Co. have closed temporarily for lack of hogs, and Kingan & Co. are running a reduced force. There is considerable talk of building a new pork slaughtering house near the Union stock yards.

This talk is by no means new, but now it seems to have assumed a definite shape, and looks more like business than before. The company renting the old house of Holmes, Pettit & Bradshaw, composed of Meesars. Barnes, McMurtry, J. C. Ferguson, E. B. Howard and N. M. Neeld, may not be able to rent their present house neat year, and rather than to buy it they would prefer building nearer the stock yards, where money and time would be saved in the transportation of hogs from the pens to the house. Certain Louisville capitalists have also prospected here, and it is extremely probable that they will build whether any one else does or not. There are also some capitalist residing in this city, who are carefully considering the question of building. That Indianapolis has advantages as a stock market is not disputed, and the fact is becoming more evident every year. It now stands fourth on the list of winter packing cities, and second only to Chicago as a summer packing place. The Belt road, the well-arranged stock yards, the fine railroad facilities for shipping to and from here, all add to its importance, and the day is not far distant when Indianapolis wil not have to look to Chicago for her quotations, and when the dealers will not have to rely upon foreign rings from rival cities for an opportunity to unload their crowded cellars and replenish their exhausted purses.

February is not the crack month of the year in grain circles. The usually bad roads, cold weather, etc., are not conductive to a flourishing, active trade. This last month is no exception to the rule. The old and never-to-be-settled rate wrangle between the railroad managers and shippers still exist, in a modified form, however, and to add to the general trouble, there has been a want of cars. Grain has advanced during the month in almost every grade; but the quotations are lower than they usually are at this time of the year. There has been a good milling demand for wheat, which was stronger the first half of February than the last half. Crm has been in active demand and offers were readily taken at the quoted prices. The movement of cars was heavier than in the month of January, while not half as much wheat was moved. The oats receipts are now three times as heavy as in January. The total receipts by rail as taken from the records of the bard of trade, are as follows: Receipts—Wheat, 93,600 bushels; corn, 936,500 bushels; corn, 936,350 bushels; corn, 936,350 bushels; corn, 936,350 bushels; corn, 194,330 bus

The movement for February, 1878, was as follows:
Receipts—Wheat, 45,025 bushels; corn, 1,007,316 bushels; cats, 125,500 bushels. Shipments—Wheat, 41,350 bushels; corn, 1,030 bushels; oats, 121,100 bushels.

bushels.

Tiese figures represent the receipts of grain by the different railroads of the city during the months. A large portion of it is not handled by Indianapolis parties. On the other hand, the city merchents purchase large quantities of grain outside the city that do not pass through or near here. While the figures do not accurately cover the Indianapolis trade, they are correct in themselves and come as near approximating the business as any means yet discovered, and it is the one adopted as the basis of statistics by every city on the continent.

THERE is no known remedy that will so prompting and healthy and weak or diseased.

THERE is no known remedy that will so prompting and efficiently insure a healthy Stomach and Liver, and so thoroughly fortily the system against extreme cold as the wonderful, vitalizing, health-giving HOLMAN LIVER and STOMACH PAD. It is a sure preventive of colds and catarrh. Do not fail to try it.

THE Holman Pad placed over the stomach and Liver, from which nearly all diseases have their origin, will exert a never failing beneficial influence over the vital forces (nerves and blood).

Tontains wonderful properties, consisting of healthy tonies that are sent into the system by absorption, stimulating the nerve centars that pervade the digestive organs, without which digestion and good vitalizing fluids (blood) is impossible.

T also has other properties that absorb all foreign matter from the system found in the blood, whether medicinal, malarious, bilious, etc. It will do for you what nothing else can. Think, too, how very inexpensive it is, compared with other treatments. As a family medicine, for cheapxess, safety, convenience and effectivenes, it commends itself to every household.

BANIEL MACAULEY, General Manager W. W. Co CATARRH.—Catarrh, with all its peculiar symptoms for ten years, fast verging on consumption, completely cured by less than four bottles of Constitutional Catarrh Remedy is the first article placed before the public that proposed to cure catarrh by building up the constitution. It struck at the root of the whole difficulty, and thousands upon thousands of letters have been received by the proprietors, setting forth the maxwelous cures, and what is remarkable, curing not only the catarrh but other aliments at the same time. The following statement is only a sample of what we are constantly receiving from well-known people to whom you can write, and not to bogue ones:

Messis, Littlefield & Co.—Gents: Having suffered for the past ten years from the baneful effects of catarrh, and at times felt almost willing to distather than to live in so much suffering, and after having tried all the nostrums in the market, which are warranted to cure positisely, and receiving no benefit whatever, I was at last induced to purchase a bottle of Littlefield & Co.'s Constitutional Catarrh Remedy. I used three or four bottles and obtained a complete cure. Through the influence of my cure others have been cured.

Yours truly, GEO. & BOSWORTH.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The Fee and Salary Bill Passed by the House-The Medical Bill Referred to a Special Committee.

Senate.

Senator Streight's bill to regulate tolls on plank; macadamized and gravel roads, restricting them to ten per cent. an the amount of money invested, was passed yesterday afternoon. The bill to abolish the office of state geologist failed to pass. Senate bills were passed: To provide for a uniform mode of assessing taxes; to amend the charter of the city of Evansville so that the name may be changed to Lamasco; legalizing the publication of official matter in patent inside papers. The bill to prevent live stock from running at large was defeated by 23 to 17. TO-DAY.

The two bills heretofore introduced in that body, numbered 84 and 278, to regulate the practice of medicine and surgery, were taken up after dispensing with the reading of the minutes of yesterday's proceedings. The bills were read the second time, and after some discussion were referred to a special committee of three, which the lieutenant governor makes to expess of Senators Paterson. ernor makes to consist of Senators Peterson, Reiley and Mercer. The house bill No. 9, to regulate the setting up of corner stones in public highways, was indefinitely postponed. A letter addressed to Mrs. Sarah J. Smith, superintendent of the Reformatory institute for women and cirls was read for motion by for women and girls, was read (on motion by a senator) notifying her that a committee of both houses of the general assembly of Ohio, for the reform school for boys and girls, and also the state board of charities, will reach this city at 5:55 p. m. on Monday, on a visit to the hencyclent institutions of on a visit to the benevolent institutions of this state. The committee will be accompanied by the governor of Ohio, possibly, and the party will comprise some twenty odd persons. Thereupon a resolution was adopted authorizing a committee of reception, to be composed of three senators and three representatives. The bill [h. r. 35] to amend section 64 of the justices' act of June 9, 1852, as to prevent appeals from justices of the peace in cases where the amount recoveron a visit to the benevolent institutions o the peace in cases where the amount recover-ed is less than $20, was indefinitely post-

The report of the judiciary committee against The report of the judiciary committee against taxing church property was discussed yesterday afternoon, and finally adopted, 64 to 26. The rest of the session was spent in hearing reports of committees and disposing of bills. A motion to reconsider the resolution to investigate ex-auditor Henderson, offered by Mr. Herrod, failed by one vote. Mr. Huthsteiner resigned from the committee, and Mr. Miers was placed in his stead and Messrs, Humphreys and Osborne added.

importance, the nature, the reception, enjoyment and results of saving faith, and shed much light upon the subject. The closing prayer was made by Gen. Pease.

The evening meeting was opened with prayer by the pastor, Rev. C. H. Raymond, followed with a sermon by Mr. Bromley, on Isaiah 43:25. His subject was "the blotting out of sin," which could not be done until justice was satisfied by the death of Christ, through faith in whom the sinner obtains pardon. This pardon is unmerited, present, perfect and divine. More Waters

The state geologist is making analyses of waters got from different places in the river and canal for the benefit of the water works and canal for the benefit of the water works company, which intends to add to its present supply. The most favorable point for the proposed increase of water is the wide cut in the canal, which is a large reservoir, the water coming direct from Broad Ripple, above all points of damage from slaughter houses, manufactories or the city, and where its purity can always be retained, as the canal is the property of the company. The project of getting an adequate water supply where the daily delivery amounts to nearly 1,000,000 gallons, from the lower stratum of water under the city has been given up as impracticable.

Correct Biography.

Correct Biography.

The Saturday Herald, noticing the sketch of the conquest of Vincennes and the northwest territory by George Rogers Clarke in 1778-9, published in The News, says this paper is incorrect in having made him but 27 years of age at the time of the completion of these exploits; that he was ten years older, having been born in 1742, not in 1752. The News was, and is and will continue to be correct. George Rogers Clark was born in Albermarle county, state of Virginia, Novemvember 19, 1752, and at the time of the capture of Vincennes was 26 years, 3 months and 7 days old. He died in February, 1818, and was buried at Locust Grove, near Louisville.

A meeting of democratic politicians and a few disgruntled colored people was held last night at he state offices, to arrange a basis of the spring campaign by which the democrats and negroes will join hands on the city ticket. The negroes are to name the city clerk and marshal, one alderman and a councilman, and assist the democrats in electing the rest of the ticket. Mr. R. D. Bagby will be city clerk, the marshal is not yet agreed be city clerk, the marshal is not yet agreed upon, probably Christie, Hinton is to be the alderman and Porter the councilman. A Wandering Humorist.

A News reporter met Burdette, the Hawkeye man, yesterday, at noon, as that humorist was footing it up lilinois street, in search of something to eat. He was offered meals, square, round, triangular and of other geometrical patterns, at ridiculously low prices, by hospitable Bonifaces who stood in doorways all along the streets and at all sorts of prices from 15 cents to 50 cents. But he passed them by. He is making money on his lectures and can afford to feed fat and wear purple vestments with the finest nether on his fectures and can afford to feed fat and wear purple vestments with the finest nether linen every day. He told the reporter that Indiana was the garden spot of his lecture field, that in this state he had a larger number of appointments with better paying audiences in the aggregate than in any state in the union. He is enroute to Rushville, where he proposes to give the worth of the money or refund fourfold at the door.

More Doctors There was a meeting of the board of trustees of Butler university yesterday, Dr. P. H. Jameson presiding, at which the degree of dector of medicine was conferred upon 66 graduates of the Indiana college of medicine. In addition to this, the ad eundem was conferred on 130 graduates of the old Indiana medical college, and the college of physicians and surgeons, under the arrangement by which the consolidation of the two colleges was effected. for a long time, and is perhaps the best evidence in support of the doctrine of total depravity, the friends of that doctrine have been furnished during the present century. Without referring to the means used and the influences brought to bear by the "coparceners" in this corrupt matter, I will simply state that at the last session of will simply state that at the last session of the Indiana legislature an act was passed governing the admission of foreign insur-ance companies doing business in this state. Among the provisions was one requiring the publication of semi-annual statements in two of the leading papers having a general circulation at a cost not exceeding one dollar per square, said advertising to be done under the contract and supervision of the state auditor. The first charges for their publication, was made at the rate of $27, the result of "reading" out the space At result of "padding" out the space. At this point when talk was strong that there would be trouble ahead, the state auditor, so he said, "succeeded" in securing an abate-ment of the charges to $18, saving, as he claims, to the companies $9 for each paper. Is this the Journal's standard of "justice and commercial honor?" The $18 for each insertion the state auditor sertion the state auditor "succeeded" in contracting for, is more than double the amount the same papers publish the statements of banks and other corporations for, because the latter make their own contracts to run on a basis of "justice and commercial honor;" these insurance companies are not permitted to do because the state auditor controls the contracting for and nubauditor controls the contracting for and publishing of the insurance statements, by which the Journal and Sentinel pocket over $4,000 each for a service that "justice and commercial honor" would declare $2,000 each a large consideration. It is hoped that after passing a peaceful Sabbath the Journal man will give its readers another sermon on "Justice and commercial honor," and come out with an honest confession that it has been a party to an outrage fession that it has been a party to an outrage for the past two years in its practices that does not come up to the standard of commercial integrity that it preaches so fervently to its unsophistacated readers, "Remove the beam from your own eye before attempting to move the mote from your neighbor's."

No insurance company objects to the pubmove the mote from your neighbor's."

No insurance company objects to the publication of its statements, if a gross fraud is not permitted to be practiced, as has been done for two years past.

Another of the Fieteen Hundred.

Sit Still.

To the Editor of The Indianapolis News: The organs of the insurance steal would have their readers believe that the members of the legislature are fools and can be wound around the fingers of the "organs" like tow string. They are continually trying to mis-lead the members on the subject of insurance legislation, taking it for granted they know nothing except what they read in the Journal or Sentinel.

They state that the companies are trying to repeal the law requiring the statements to be published. This is not so. The companie desire to publish their sworn state ments in two of the leading papers in the stute, just as now, but they desire to make their own contracts as to space and price with said papers, instead of having the auditor of said papers, instead of having the auditor of state contract for eighteen squares at one dollar per square each insertion, when any business man can buy the same space at fifty cents per square. Then the statements are slugged out to fill the eighteen squares, when from nine to twelve squares is all the space required for the longest statements. In the name of humanity, is this justice? And then on too of all this, the Journal can't see why The News should call it an ainsurance steal." unless it is because it was not in "the steal," unless it is because it was not in "the ring." Men are sent to prison for stealing a twenty-five cent chicken. The present law requires the statements to be published in the two leading daily newsbe published in the two leading daily newspapers of the state, having the largest general circulation therein. The Journal or Sentinel either does not come under this head (the writer never having seen one of their sworn statements as to their bona fide circulation) but they got the "job," and a more infamous job never existed in the state. Here is the weakest of all weak statements ever made. The Journal says the companies take nearly a million dollars a year out of the state (another false statement,) and it is no hardship to require them to pay for publishing their statements. Is it any reason that a business man should be required to pay twice or three times as much as a thing is worth, simply because he is making money?

The fifty worthless, wild-cat foreign insurance companies driven out of the state were not affected by the advertising steal, but by that portion of the law compelling companies of other states to have at least $200,000 cash capital paid up. In conclusion I have only a word of advice to offer, which is that if the Journal and Sentinel can not exist with out the money derived from this insurance advertising steal, they had better shut up shop and the managers thereof return to their former avocations.

ONE OF THE "SOLICITORS."

THE CHEAPEST IN THE END. The Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York issues Tontine policies which experience proves to be the cheapest in the end Policy holders who have paid eight or nine years, and find their dividends nearly extinction that the provided the provided that the p tinguishing the premium, and annually increasing, feel very happy that they have not been drawn by clap-trap arguments into investing their money in policies with so-called "robates" at the start.

resting their money in policies with so-called "rebates" at the start.

The maturing Tontine policies of the Equitable are an unanswerable argument in favor of a prudent and skillful management. It will pay to examine the results of the Tontine plan before insuring. D. B. Shideler, manager, 43 Vance Block.
